Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-24, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Brunson et al. (US Publication 2007/0121808 A1).

Regarding claims 1, 12, 17, Brunson teaches an apparatus/method for delivering a voice mail message to a recipient, comprising:

a memory (0056); and at least one processor, coupled to the memory, operative to (0056);

receive said voice mail message from a sender (0098); obtain a presence status of said sender from a presence server (0075); and identification of at least one device where the sender is present (0059);

Art Unit: 2617

an deliver said voice mail message to said recipient to automatically respond to the sender an indication of a presence of said sender (0056, 0093, 0098, 0108).

Regarding claims 2, 18, Brunson teaches a method/apparatus wherein said presence server extracts presence information from a plurality of presence data stores (0045, 0054, 0056).

Regarding claims 3, 19, Brunson teaches a method/apparatus of claim 2, wherein said presence server translates said presence information to a standard format (0108).

Regarding claims 4, 20, Brunson teaches a method/apparatus wherein said presence server determines said presence status of said sender based on one or more rules that aggregate extracted presence information (0059, 0061, 0086).

Regarding claims 5, 21, Brunson teaches a method/apparatus wherein said recipient responds to said sender in another domain (0054).

Regarding claims 6, 22, Brunson teaches a method/apparatus wherein said presence information indicates if the message sender can be reached at one or more indicated devices (0108).

Art Unit: 2617

Regarding claims 7, Brunson teaches a method of claim 1, wherein said presence information is obtained from a user registration process (0086, 0078, 0092, 0108).

Regarding claims 8, Brunson teaches a method of claim 1, wherein said presence information is obtained by observing activities of a user (0066).

Regarding claims 9, 14, Brunson fails to teach a method/apparatus wherein said recipient can respond to said sender in real time (0108).

Regarding claims 10, 15, Brunson teaches a method wherein said recipient can response to said sender in non-real time (0099).

Regarding claims 11, 16, 23, Brunson teaches a method/apparatus wherein said recipient can respond to said sender using a non-textual form of communication (0098, 0132).

Regarding claim 13, Brunson teaches a method of claim 12, wherein said providing step allows said recipient to respond to said sender in another domain (0147).

Regarding claim 24, Brunson teaches an apparatus of claim 17, wherein said presence status indicates a presence status of said sender across a plurality of domains (0078).

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-24 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
